CALENDARS.

Instructions to Editors.

The Master of the Rolls desires to call the attention of the Editors of Calendars to the following considerations, with a view to secure uniformity of plan in the important works on which they are engaged:—

He is anxious to extend, as far as is consistent with proper economy and despatch, the utility of the Calendars of State Papers now publishing under his control: 1st. As the most efficient means of making the national archives accessible to all who are interested in historical inquiries; 2nd. As the best justification of the liberality and munificence of the Government in throwing open these papers to the public, and providing proper catalogues of their contents at the national expense.

The greater number of the readers who will consult and value these works can have little or no opportunity of visiting the Public Record Office, in which these papers are deposited. The means for consulting the originals must necessarily be limited when readers live at a distance from the metropolis; still more if they are residents of Scotland, Ireland, distant colonies, or foreign states. Even when such an opportunity does exist, the difficulty of mastering the original hands in which these papers are written will deter many readers from consulting them. Above all, their great variety and number must present formidable obstacles to literary inquirers, however able, sanguine, and energetic, when the information contained in them is not made accessible by satisfactory Calendars.

The Master of the Rolls considers that, without superseding the necessity of consulting the originals, every Editor ought to frame his Calendar in such a manner that it shall present, in as condensed a form as possible, a correct index of the contents of the papers described in it. He considers that the entries should be so minute as to enable the reader to discover not only the general contents of the originals, but also what they do not contain. If the information be not sufficiently precise, if facts and names be omitted or concealed under a vague and general description, the reader will be often misled, he will assume that where the abstracts are silent as to information to be found in the documents, such information does not exist; or, he will have to examine every original in detail, and thus one great purpose will have been lost for which these Calendars have been compiled.

As the documents are various, the Master of the Rolls considers that they will demand a corresponding mode of treatment. The following rules are to be observed :—

1st. All formal and official documents, such as letters of credence, warrants, grants, and the like, should be described as briefly as possible.

2nd. Letters and documents referring to one subject only should be catalogued as briefly as is consistent with correctness. But when they contain miscellaneous news, such a description should be given as will enable a reader to form an adequate notion of the variety of their contents.

3rd. Wherever a letter or paper is especially difficult to decipher, or the allusions more than ordinarily obscure, it will be advisable for the Editor to adhere, as closely as is consistent with brevity, to the text of the document. He is to do the same when it contains secret or very rare information.

4th. Where the Editor has deciphered letters in cipher, the decipher may be printed at full length. But when a contemporary or authorised decipher exists it will be sufficient to treat the cipher as an ordinary document.

5th. Striking peculiarities of expression, proverbs, manners, &c. are to be noticed.

6th. Original dates are to be given at the close of each entry, that the reader may know the exact evidence by which the marginal dates are determined.

7th. Where letters are endorsed by the receivers and the date of their delivery specified, these endorsements are to be recorded.

8th. The number of written pages of each document is to be specified, as a security for its integrity, and that readers may know what proportion the abstract bears to the original.

9th. The language of every document is to be specified. If, however, the greater part of the collection be in English, it will be sufficient to denote those only which are in a different tongue.

10th. Where documents have been printed, a reference should be given to the publication.

11th. Each series is to be chronological.

12th. The Prefaces of Editors, in explanation of documents in the volume are not to exceed fifty pages, unless the written permission of the Master of the Rolls to the contrary be obtained.

 Editors employed in foreign archives are to transcribe at full length important and secret papers.

PREFACE.

The documents, of which abstracts appear in this volume, are those relating to Ireland during the period embraced between the years 1302 to 1307. In their general character they are very similar to those treated of in the last volume (IV.) of this Calendar; the ecclesiastical taxation of Ireland, which is given in extenso, being the chief exception.

This taxation return gives the valuation and taxation of all the dioceses throughout the country. Of these returns those for Down, Connor, and Dromore have been printed by Dean Reeves in his "Ecclesiastical Antiquities" of those dioceses. The returns for Limerick, Cloyne, Ross, Emly, Cashel, Cork, and Waterford have also been printed in the Eighth Report of the Irish Record Commissioners.

For several of the dioceses, Meath, Limerick, Cloyne, Emly, Cashel, Ross, Waterford, and Cork, there are two sets of returns of different dates, in which the amount of the valuation and taxation varies, and many churches taxed in the one are in the second entered as destroyed during the war. Occasionally, too, a church found in the one has been omitted from the other, or appears under another name. For Meath the returns are very nearly duplicates, whilst the Roll $\frac{5}{9}\frac{3}{3}$ D, upon which the dioceses of Limerick, Cloyne, Ross, and Emly are entered, bears the endorsement "Vacated, as is believed."

The membranes upon which the dioceses of Ardfert and Killaloe are entered are in part much injured, and present much difficulty to any attempt to decipher their contents.

For the text of this volume Mr. Sweetman, who had passed the pages through the press, is responsible. He had not, however, completed the index when he had to cease from his labours owing to failing health and eyesight, the latter no doubt aggravated by his zealous efforts to decipher many faded documents and by the arduous task of transcribing the taxation rolls. With reference to these, were he now living, he would doubtless take this opportunity to thank the many friends who assisted him in endeavouring to identify the names of churches, &c. of that date with those of the present day.

With regard to the corrigenda, I may add that as any errors which may occur in the first part of the volume can generally be detected without assistance I have not thought it necessary to take note of them, but with reference to the ecclesiastical taxation, I have compared it throughout with the rolls, and have noted all variations from the original returns.

G. F. Handcock.

Feb. 20. 29. The K. notifies to the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, that the K. pardons to Richard Blakeman and Amabilia his wife, for his good service in Scotland, 10 marks which they owed at that Exchequer beyond what they paid out of the goods of Richard de Aton, for arrears due by the latter when sheriff of Waterford. Woller. [Close, 30 Edw. I., m. 16.]

Feb. 20. 30. Pardon to Thomas de St. John, for his good service in Scotland, of 15*l.* out of the 30*l.* which he owes for amerciaments for undue returns of writs before the chief justiciary, the justices of the Common Pleas, Dublin, and for insufficient returns of writs in the Exchequer. The K. directs the justiciary, Treasurer, and Barons that, having regard to the poverty of the house, reasonable terms be granted to the abbot. Roxburgh. [Close, 30 Edw. I., m. 15.]

William caused the record of the plaint to come by writ of false judgment before the above court of Common Pleas. The justices, although William had died pending the plea, adjudged that the judgment was false, and that the liberty should be taken into the K.'s hand for rendering the judgment, no notice being given to the countess or her seneschal. The K. not wishing the countess to be aggrieved directs that the liberty be replevied to her during pleasure, and that the justices certify the cause of caption to the K. under Simon's seal in the quinzaine of St. John the Baptist next ensuing. Roxburgh. [Close, 30 Edw. I., m. 15.]

Feb. 23. 33. The K., for the good service in Scotland of Nicholas de Saun ford, directs the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, to grant terms to him for payment of 30*l.* remaining due out of a sum of 112*l.* Morpeth. [Close, 30 Edw. I., m. 15.]

Feb. 23. 36. The K. directs the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, to search the rolls and certify by the quinzaine of St. John in what debts and for what cause Hugh Purcel is bound to the K. Meanwhile they shall cause him to have respite. Morpeth. [Close, 30 Edw. I., m. 15.]

Feb. 23. 37. Whereas the K. had granted to John Fitz Thomas, for his good service in Scotland and elsewhere, 60 librates of land in fee in Ireland, the K. commands John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, to provide the former with those librates in the locality where it might be done with the least damage to the K., and the greatest advantage to John Fitz Thomas. The justiciary shall certify thereupon to the K. by the quinzaine of St. John next ensuing. Morpeth. [Close, 30 Edw. I., m. 15.]

Feb. 23. 38. The K. wishing to favour John Fitz Thomas, on account of his laudable service in Scotland and elsewhere, grants to him that he may hold the custody of certain lands of Thomas Fitz Maurice, deceased (which John now holds of the K.'s commission until the age of Thomas's heir at 100*l.* a year), free from the payment of 100*l.*, provided that John will remit to the K. all debts which the K. owes to him for his expenses on the K.'s service both in Ireland and Flanders. Morpeth. [Close, 30 Edw. I., m. 15.]

1301–2.

Feb. 23. 39. The K. commands Geoffrey de Geynville and John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, that, taking with them the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, they search the rolls, &c. of that Exchequer, view the receipt of the chamberlain after the account of William de Estdene, late treasurer, and having made an estimate of the entire receipt as well at the Exchequer of Easter as at the Exchequer of Michaelmas next ensuing, they view and examine what sum of money out of issues of Ireland the K. may have ready at hand for the expedition to Scotland in the month of March after the end of the present year. The justiciary shall certify thereupon to the K. in the quinzaine of St. John the Baptist next ensuing, in order that the K. having certain information on this point may be enabled to provide what is necessary for the expedition. What the K. has already directed to be paid shall be subtracted from the amount. Morpeth. [Close, 30 Edw. I., m. 15.]

Feb. 23. 40. Power to Geoffrey de Geynville and John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, conjointly and severally to treat in the K.'s name with the Earl of Ulster and other magnates of Ireland to come to the expedition against Scotland with horses and arms, men-at-arms with armoured horses, hoblers and men on foot. The K. will approve and confirm whatever Geoffrey and John may do in the premises. Morpeth. By writ of Privy Seal. [Pat., 30 Edw. I., m. 28.]

Feb. 23. 41. The truce granted to the Scotch having expired, the K. intended to proceed with his final expedition, and desired to be provided with ships to convey men and horses from Ireland to that expedition. Westminster.

Inquisition taken before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, at Kilkenny on Monday next after the feast of St. Andrew the Apostle [Dec. 3, 1302]. Jurors, Geoffrey Fitz Henry, Henry de Barre, Alan Fitz Walter, Elias Fitz Roger, Walter de Grane, Philip Fleming, Simon Fitz David, Geoffrey le Deveneys, Maurice Smale, Ralph Fitz Alexander, William Baskyn, Flias Fitz Henry, who upon their oath say that it would not be to the damage of the K. or of others that the K. should give this licence, except in so much that this moiety, and quarter are held of Walter Purcel of the burgages of Leighlin, and they do not know with how much service they are charged of themselves, because they are part of the burgages of John and William. Aug. 7. 100. Writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, or his locum tenens. Whereas Roger le Bygod, Earl of Norfolk and Marshal of England, had supplicated the K. to grant to him by Letters Patent that merchants and others might safely and securely, both by land and water, come to the earl's vill of Ross with their merchandise to trade, and might thence return without impediment from the K. or the men of Waterford, as the merchants and others were wont to do until they were impeded by Stephen de Fulburne, late Bishop of Waterford, justiciary of Ireland. Inquisition taken as above before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, at Waterford on Saturday in the second week of Lent, a. r. 31 [March 2, 1302–3], by John Fitz Henry, John Fitz John le Poer, William de St. Leger, Robert Schothals, John Fitz William le Poer, William Fitz Ely, knights, Edmund le Gras, Robert Lowys, Edmund de Valle, Hamund le Gras, Henry Lamport, Nicholas de Samford. Who Say upon their oath that merchants and others were wont to come to the vill of Ross with goods and merchandise until they were impeded by Stephen de Fulburne, Bishop of Waterford and justiciary of Ireland. The burgesses of Waterford had always opposed this so far as they could, and had sometimes impeded it. The jury says that it would not be to the damage or loss of the K. to grant that merchants and others might come to the vill of Ross with goods and merchandise if the K. took there the same customs which he took at Waterford. But they Say that it is to the advantage of the K., because more merchants with ships and merchandise come thither. And they Say that it is to the damage of the men of Waterford and their vill of twenty [pounds] a year, because merchants with their ships and merchandise withdraw and betake themselves elsewhere, and to the advantage of the K. and of the men of Ross of 40*l.* a year, because merchants would touch at Ross more than usual. The latter part torn. [*Inq. Oct. 14. 132. The K. to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, or his locum tenens. Walter Bishop of Kildare having shown by petition that

Nicholas, formerly Bishop of Kildare, his predecessor, and all his predecessors were always wont to have 10 marks a year as of the right of their church by the hands of William de Vescy, late lord of the vill of Kildare and his ancestors for the site of the castle of that vill, built on the soil of the church, but the said William when justiciary of Ireland, on account of a contention between him and the said Nicholas, deprived the latter and his church of the rent which remained detained from Nicholas and Walter and their church, as well after as before William's lands and tenements in Ireland had fallen into the K.'s hands. The K. wishing to be certified thereupon commands the justiciary to take an inquisition whether the 10 marks are of the right of the church, &c. Westminster. [Indorsed.] This writ come to the justiciary at Kildare on December 18.

Inquisition taken before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, at Tristeldermod on Feb. 26, a. r. 31 [1302–3], to inquire as above. Jurors:—Robert Percevall, Walter de Kenleye, knights, Walran de Wellesleye, John de la Hyde, William de Cantilupe, Nicholas Thoure, John le Bret, Simon Surdeval, Nicholas Barbedor, William le Bret, Gilbert le Palmer, Simon Clement, Richard Sprot, John de Coventry, Who upon their Oath Say that William formerly Earl Marshall, senior, built originally the castle of Kildare on the soil of the church of Kildare, without the consent of the Bishop and Chapter thereof; that afterwards Ralph, formerly Bishop of Kildare, impleaded the earl of the site of the castle, and the earl in order to make peace gave to the bishop and his successors 10 marks a year receivable from the castle; that Nicholas and his predecessors, Bishops of Kildare, were from that time seized of the 10 marks a year by the hands of William de Vescy, late lord of Kildare, and his antecessors, as of the right of their church until the said William, when he was justiciary of Ireland on account of a contention between him and Nicholas withdrew the rent; that the rent was detained from Nicholas and his church for nine years, as well after the lands and tenements of William de Vescy came to the K.'s hands as before; that the rent is wont to be levied in this way, to wit, the bailiff of the Bishop of Kildare goes to the castle and demands it from the bailiff of the castle at the constituted terms, and if he wont pay the bishop there is wont to excommunicate the bailiff from day to day until the rent is fully paid.

The K. to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland. By inquisition lately taken by the justiciary and returned, the K. had learnt that William, formerly Earl Marshall, the elder, built the castle of Kildare on the soil of the church of Kildare without the consent of the Bishop or Chapter of Kildare; that afterwards Ralph, formerly Bishop of Kildare, impleaded Earl William at Dublin of the site of the castle; and that the earl, in order to make peace with Bishop Ralph, gave to the bishop and his successors 10 marks a year for ever, receivable from the castle for its site. As, however, the inquisition makes no mention of the form of peace nor of the tenor of the composition made between the earl and bishop, and the K. wishes to be certified in order to do justice to the bishop, the K. commands the justiciary to certify the K. whether the peace was made in the K.'s court before the K.'s justices or elsewhere without the court; and if the former to certify regarding the record and process thereupon held, the tenor of the composition and instruments, &c. Lanum, April 16, 1303.

On searching the rolls and Memoranda of the Exchequer, Dublin, nothing is found of the form of peace made between the Earl Marshall and the Bishop of Kildare. The Bishop in his proper person being questioned says that it is not necessary for him to show any composition but the seisin of his church for 74 years in the time of four of his predecessors, namely, Ralph, John, Simon, Nicholas, ere the K. had anything in the co. of Kildare, and this he would verify as the court should adjudge. free customs, &c., thereunto belonging, together with the service of John Pipard, his son, and Matilda, John's wife, due to the K. for the manor of Clouncurrie which they held of Ralph intail, with the reversion of said manor. Witnesses, Walter Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, John de Warenne, Earl of Surrey, John of Britanny, Roger Brabazoun, justice of England, Walter de Beauchamp, seneschal of the K.'s household, John Botecourte, John de Drokenesford, John de Benstede de Westminster. Wednesday next after the feast of St. Martin in Hieme, a. r. 30.

Mem. that this deed was delivered to William de Brikall, one of the Chamberlains in full Exchequer, on Nov. 27, a. r. 31 [1302], by the hands of Philip de Willugby, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to be carried into the K.'s treasury.

Mandate to John Wogan to cause the castles, vills, manors, lands, &c., to be extended by the oaths of good men, and to certify thereupon to the K. by Nicholas du Bois and Walter de Pederton, and when he had taken seizin to cause them to be kept and to answer for the issues at the Exchequer, Dublin. John Wogan having taken the extents sent them to the K. at Lenton at Easter, a. r. 31 [1303] by Nicholas and Walter aforesaid, who gave the K. and Council to understand that the lands did not equal by a great sum the value of the lands in England which the K. gave to Ralph for his life in exchange for the above lands. The K. thereupon commanded Ralph to be at the Exchequer of York on the morrow of the Ascension next ensuing [May 17] to confer thereupon with the Council. On which day Richard de Newport and Robert de Sallowe came before William de Grenefeld, Chancellor of the K., Roger de Brabazoun, Ralph de Hengham, Philip de Willugby, locum tenens of Treasurer, the Barons of the Exchequer, and others of the Council, and say on behalf of Ralph that he is impeded by such infirmity that he cannot come hither on this day according to the tenor of the mandate; that it is contained in the extents that John Pipard arraigned assizes of Novel Disseisin against Ralph of some of the lands aforesaid, and they say that he does so maliciously and in order to impede the K. He thereupon produced an indented charter between Ralph and John, and also a quit claim of John made to Ralph, the tenor of which are as follows: Deed and grant by Ralph Pipard to John Pipard, his son, of all his castles, manors, and tenements in Ergallia, Ulthonias, and Media, to wit the castle and manor de Saltu Salmonum, the castle and manor de Atrio Dei [Ardee] Castellum Munitum [ ] with all the manor, the castle and manor de Donachmayn, with the vills de Maundevile, Urdsalauch, and Housterard, with the services and customs de Rathdoneny, which Sir Nicholas de Donheved and other tenants formerly held of Ralph in the county of Kilkenny with their appurtenances, saving to Ralph homages, advowsons of churches and vicarages, with a moiety of wards and marriages, with reversion to Ralph in case John should die before him; to hold to John for his life rendering yearly 500 marks sterling to be carried by John at his cost to the Dominican friars at Chester, to wit, one moiety at the feast of St. Michael and the other moiety on the quinzaine of Easter, and rendering to the chief lords of the fee the services due and accustomed. Warranty by Ralph with power of entry to him in case of non-payment of rent. Witnesses, Sir Robert de Grey, Robert Barry, Geoffrey de Gresele, William de Scalebrok, Richard de Repenteny, Milo de Rochefort, Richard de Exeter, William de Clynthons, Nicholas Taaffe, John de Hedesore, Thomas de Stanley, John de Kent, Robert le Bretone, Ralph le Marshal, William le Waleys, Rutherfield Pippard, morrow of the Apostles Peter and Paul, a. r. 22 [June 30, 1294].

Tenor of the quit claim whereby John Pipard remises and quit claims to Ralph Pipard all the right and claim which he has in the above lands, to which is added Leinster. Witnesses, Alan de Goldingham, John de Wascoil, Peter de Denardeston, ... son of Ralph, William de Grey, Robert Barry, Sir William de Scalebrook, knight, John de Ry, Ralph Marshal, William . . . . Smethone in Essex. Sunday after the feast of St. John ante Pontam Latinam, a. r. 25 [May 12, 1297].

. . . . Order of the Council that Richard de Newport and Robert de Sallowe defend the plea in form of law. Richard and Robert pray that on account of the infirmity of Ralph, and the absence in foreign parts of the Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, this matter be adjourned until the return of the Treasurer. A conference being had thereupon by the Council it was agreed that the matter be adjourned. A day was thereupon given to Richard and Robert to appear on the quinzaine of St. Michael to hear and perform what the K. by his Council shall ordain. [Memoranda, Q.R., 31 *Edw. Nov. 14. 150. The K. directs John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, to extend in his own proper person or cause to be extended on oath the castles, vills, manors, lands surrendered to the K. in Ireland by Ralph Pipard, and when the extent shall have been made to certify to the K. by Nicholas du Bois and Walter de Pederton. When the justiciary shall have received seisin of the castles, &c., he shall grant custody thereof, and the issues shall be answered for at the Exchequer, Dublin. Westminster. [Originalia, 30 Edw. I., m. 16.]

Nov. 14. THREE DOCUMENTS RELATING TO PROPOSALS MADE IN IRELAND FOR THE INVASION OF SCOTLAND.

151. Indenture. In the first place the K. wishes to have from Ireland 300 men-at-arms, 400 hoblers, and 2,000 foot soldiers. It is next ordered that Nicholas du Bois and Sir Walter de Pederton go to Ireland to follow up the business in the following manner:— That is to say, that the justiciary and Treasurer of Ireland, in company with [Nicholas and Walter], shall speak to the great lords of Ireland and provide how these men shall go to Scotland by counsel of the Earl of Ulster, whom the K. intends shall be chief thereof; the justiciary and Treasurer, with the said Nicholas and Sir Walter, shall have power to respite and release to those who owe debts to the K. (provided they come) such sums of money as may seem meet to them; they shall, moreover, to carry out the business, provide as much as they can of moneys levied in Ireland, as well by the aid of the Pope, as other issues, of the country whatsoever; they shall then assemble and provide ships; and when they shall see that this matter is on a favourable footing they shall certify to the K. as quickly as they can.

And it is ordered that the Earl of Ulster shall have in the number of men of Ireland, 100 men-at-arms, 200 hoblers, and 1,000 foot soldiers, as his own retinue; but that fifty out of the hundred men-at-arms shall be at the Earl's cost for 100 days, as Eustace le Poer and Thomas de Mandevile promised to the K. on the earl's part at Roxburgh before their departure thence.

Again, it is ordained that the remainder of the men aforesaid whom the K. wishes to have, to wit, 200 men-at-arms, 200 hoblers, and 1,000 foot soldiers, shall be elected by the great lords and others of Ireland, by counsel and advice of the Earl, the justiciary and Treasurer, and others of the K.'s Council.

Moreover, the messengers shall carry with them an indenture (whereof the justiciary of Ireland has the other part, and a transcript remains in the K.'s wardrobe) of things done, and promises made at Roxburgh in the matter aforesaid.

It is ordained that all the men aforesaid be at Ayr, at Pentecost at latest.

Indorsed. This indenture is made in 3 parts, one whereof is given to the Bishop of Chester, another to Nicholas du Bois and to Sir Walter de Pederton to carry into Ireland; and this one is to remain in the Wardrobe. Delivered on Nov. 14, a. r. 30 [1302].

Message by John de Ockley on behalf of the K. to the Earl of Ulster urging him to come to the K.'s service in Scotland.

Mem.—It is the K.'s will that the men of Ireland arrive in the Isle of Arran in the quinzaine of St. John, for the prince, the K.'s son, who would be at Carlisle by the feast of St. John, had so arranged matters that he will be at Newcastle on Ayr before the coming of the men of Ireland.

The payment to be made in Ireland to the men of the Cinque Ports shall commence from the day when these men shall arive at the port of Dublin.

If the Earl of Ulster does not come to the K.'s service in Scotland the justiciary shall remain in Ireland, but anyhow that the K. pay the number of men-at-arms, hoblers, and foot soldiers, according to the ordinance already made.

Mem., that on Wednesday before the month of last Easter, the justiciary of Ireland, the Treasurer of the Exchequer, Dublin, and the messengers of the K. who came from England, spoke at Drogheda with the Earl of Ulster and delivered to him the K.'s writ and the letter of the K.'s son; and prayed him on behalf of the K. to come with horses and arms to the K.'s aid in the war of Scotland, and for his coming the K. would give him pardon and release of part his debts due to the K. according to the number of men he would bring: the earl answered that he would willingly come; but that with less than 100 armoured horses, 100 hoblers, and 600 foot soldiers he would not come; and he said that he would serve with 50 armoured horses at his cost, provided that the K. would find him passage in coming and going, and would pardon all his debts which run in demand against him and his ancestors until the day aforesaid. The debts amount to 11,654*l.* 5*s.* 6½*d.*, as is now found at the Exchequer; besides the account of Ulster and Connaught, which is in arrear since a. r. 13 until now. The total of this debt cannot be certainly known before the county audit, but it is understood to be great. Besides this the Earl desires that full pay may be found for him for 50 other armoured horses, with whom shall be three knights, and that full pay shall be found for him for 100 hoblers and 600 foot soldiers. With less men and in no other way will he consent to come. The acquittance of the debts he demands under seal of England, and the 50 horses who take pay from the K. shall be appraised on this command; for the justiciary, the Treasurer, and messengers would not dare to make so dear a bargain without knowing the K.'s will. The stay of the earl under this agreement shall be 100 days, and no more, commencing at the octaves of St. John.

Then follows a list of the magnates and others coming into the K.'s service in Scotland, with the forces they propose to provide and on what conditions, namely:—John Fitz Thomas, 40 armoured horses, 40 hoblers, and 200 foot soldiers, to remain 100 days, and to have 150*l.* out of the service of Ireland; this sum, which was already given to him to enclose his castle among the Irish for the safety of the country, and is partly delivered to him to provide victuals for his workmen; 250*l.* from the Treasury, and release of a debt of 450*l.* John Fitz Thomas would not dare to come to the K.'s son with fewer men; the K. finds him passage.

Peter son of James de Bermingham, 20 armoured horses, 20 hoblers, and 100 foot soldiers; to have 200 marks from the Treasury and release of a debt of 460*l.*; to remain on the K.'s service so long as John Fitz Thomas remains; the K. finds him passage.

Thomas de Maundeville, 10 armoured horses, 20 hoblers, and 100 foot soldiers; as he owes no debt to the K. he shall take the K.'s pay for so many men. The K. finds him passage.

Walter de Lacy shall come to the K.'s service, or shall send Hugh de Lacy if he is not in health; 6 or 4 armoured horses, 4 hoblers, to have release of debts to the amount of treble of his pay; the K. finds him passage.

Peter Haket, 1 armoured horse; to remain at his own cost during the time aforesaid; to have passage and release of 4*l.*

Henry Fitz Kery, 2 armoured horses. To have passage and releases of 15*l.*

Reginald Russel, 10 armoured horses, 16 hoblers, 60 foot soldiers; to remain as the others, and have passage and release of debts to the amount of treble of his pay, which amounts to 420*l.*

As to ships to convey the men-at-arms and supplies, the shipping of Ireland does not amount to a fourth part of what is required; it therefore behoves to cause ships to come from other countries.

In regard to the aid which was granted to the K., it is hoped that this will be collected between now and the feast of St. Michael, as the K. has ordained. This money may be employed on victuals or men-at-arms.

Total of armoured horses, besides [those from] the earldom of Ulster, 85.

Total hoblers, 103. Total of foot soldiers, 400.

Jan. 12. 167. Extent of the manor of Dyssard taken there on Saturday next after the feast of Epiphany, a. r. 31. Jurors:—Thomas Colmer, Robert Saunemelle, William Vineter, Robert Norman, Henry Palmer, Adam Frewyn, Henry de Rath, Thomas Fitz Stephen, William Sweyn, Richard Cachefreyne, Thomas Brum, Hugh Fitz Ralph.

Who upon their oath Say that, Ralph Pippard, lord of that manor, has there a small, weak, and ruined fort, which together with the messuage is worth nothing a year, he has there in demesne two ½ carucates and one quarter of a carucate, whereof there are 100 and 18 acres of arable land, of which each, with the pasture adjacent, ought to be worth in time of peace 8*d.*; but for the last ten years no profit has come from it, either to Ralph aforesaid or John of Kent, to whom Ralph previously gave the manor in fee-farm, rendering therefrom 20 marks a year; there are there certain farmers who hold 8 score acres of land in le Dyssard, rendering yearly for each acre 8*d.*; Anesus O'Flyn holds 7 acres of land in Callyth, which is a member of the manor aforesaid, rendering therefrom 2 marks a year. And Thomas Colmer holds therefrom one carucate of land of the Betagii containing 66 acres of arable land, and rendering therefrom 2 marks a year. The entire residue of the demesnes is uncultivated, except 12 acres which John of Kent sowed with wheat before he lost the manor. The vesture is very poor because the land was badly cultivated; the vesture, however, of each acre is valued at 2*s.* There are there also 8 acres in demesne of very poor meadow, whereof each acre is worth 3*d.* a year. There is there a fishery in the lake de Loghanyn, which together with the pools appertaining to the manor are yearly worth in all issues 2 marks.

William [Saunzmelle] holds of the lords of said manor 2 carucates of land in Clonmoleynam of the heir of Richard [ ] being in his minority, and ought to render to the same heir 20*s.* a year, but rarely renders anything because the land is warlike among the Irish, and the heir aforesaid held that land of the lord of the manor aforesaid, rendering suit therefrom at the court of the manor from quinzaine to quinzaine, and for scutage when it occurs, 24*d.*

And be it known that the heir aforesaid is of the age of 20 years; Henry le [ ], Robert le Clynton, and Thomas de Welles hold of said Ralph 2 carucates in Hermerdyneston equally divided between them, by similar suit and similar service for scutage. Nicholas Fitz Roger holds there of the said Ralph seven acres of land in Handeston, yearly rendering therefor 2*s.* at the feast of Easter and St. Michael by equal portions, and renders suit at the court aforesaid.

William Fitz John holds there of Ralph half a carucate of land called Molyn[heleghyn] rendering therefrom 32*d.* by equal portions at the same terms, and doing suit at the court aforesaid, but the lord receives nothing therefrom at present because the land lies uncultivated because . . . . held that land of the same William, incumbered to the same William and his heirs, to one John Fitz Richard and his heirs in an annual rent of 40*s.* And they Say that the said half carucate of land, although it were discharged, is not worth the yearly rent by 10*s.*, unless the mill, which was there but is totally ruined and destroyed, were restored.

The jurors further Say that Thomas Fitz Allure, late lord of Kynalcan, was wont to hold of Ralph aforesaid 70 carucates of land in Kynalcan by the service of three knights' fees, and doing suit at the court aforesaid until . . . . sixteen years elapsed since Ralph aforesaid gave to the aforesaid . . . John of Kent, and directed Thomas aforesaid by his letters patents that he should be intentive to John aforesaid and his heirs, regarding the services thence due, but Thomas having received the letters . never attorned to [John] . . . . . And nearly two years have elapsed since . . . . first . . . . . sold the lordship to one John de Fresingfeld who still . . . . . And be it known that this land is totally in the march of warlike land, and if the suit of Kynalcan were made to the court aforesaid, then that court would be worth in all issues one half mark a year.

They also Say that the manor aforesaid is so contiguous to the Irish of Leinster and Meath that no English or peaceful man remains among them; wherefore they Say that the manor will not answer to the lord for any profit unless the lord shall apply a custody there. And they Say that this custody in time of peace, which is very rare there, would cost at least 10 marks a year, and when the neighbouring Irish are at war and the Irish of Leinster at peace this custody will cost at least 20*s.* a year; and if, on the contrary, the Irish aforesaid are at war the custody could not be carried on at 40*l.* a year.

And they Say that Ralph aforesaid . the manor of . by the service of 3 knights' fees . . . . [rendering suit at the court of Leinster] from quinzaine to quinzaine.

Indorsed.—And be it known that at the time of the making of the charter by Ralph Pipard to the K., Ralph impleaded before the 1302–3. justices itinerant at Drogheda, in the county of Meath, John of Kent (who is in the K.'s prison at Oxford) of all the lands and tenements at Dysart, and recovered them against John by his default; these tenements as contained in the extent are in the K.'s hand by reason of Ralph's feoffment. Let the K. be advised what ought further to be done thereupon. [Q.R., Irish Exchequer, $\frac{5\,3\,3}{4}$. Part of the extent very faint and difficult to read.]

Hilary. 170. Writ directing John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, to send before the K. the record and process before the justiciary and the Irish Council, between Geoffrey de Geynville and Matilda his wife, and the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, respecting complaints of grievances inflicted on Geoffrey and Matilda by the Treasurer and Barons of the said Exchequer. Westminster.

Pleas at Dublin before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, in full Exchequer in the presence of Richard de Bereford, the Treasurer, and the Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, in one month of Easter, a. r. 30, Edw. I. Complaint of the liberty of Trim having been unjustly taken into the K.'s hand, long pleading thereupon. No servant, sheriff, or minister of the K. ought to meddle with any office within the liberty, because it is without the bounds of any county, as appears by an inquisition taken by Robert de Ufford, late chief justiciary of Ireland, in order to ratify those liberties. Anselm Coterel, seneschal of the liberty, propounded certain charters of Kings of England. Richard le Blound, who sues for the K., says that the liberties propounded are in lesion of the Crown and of the K.'s dignity. The said Geoffrey and Matilda now come before the K. and his Council by Matilda's attorney, and pray that the record and process aforesaid may be recited and examined; it is thereupon found that the whole process of caption of the liberty into the K.'s hand arose from a personal trespass inflicted upon the seneschal. It seems, therefore, to the K.'s Council that the liberty was not justly taken into the K.'s hand, and that it ought to be restored. Mandate accordingly to the justiciary of Ireland. Inquisition taken at le Naas on Thursday, feast of St. Mark the Evangelist, a. r. 31 [April 25, 1303]. Jurors:—Robert White de Donothun', John Seniors, John Welsh de Balim, William Coytrot, John Wrench, William Sampson, Adam Fitz John, Thomas Sampson, Adam Fleming, Matthew Fitz Roger, Gilbert Long, John Laules, John Flemyng, Nicholas le Grete; Who Say upon their oath that Ralph de Manton, late parson of Donathymolagh, had at his death there, 42 acres sown with wheat, value of the acre 40*d.*; 2 acres of winter barley, value of each acre 40*d.*; 60 acres of oats, value of each acre 40*d.*, all which were sequestrated for divers causes by the Archbishop [of Dublin] and his officers and by the Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin. He also had there, 9 beasts of the plough, value of each 3*s.*; twelve score sheep, value of each 6*d.*; 68 lambs, value of each 2*d.*; 6 hogs, value of each 4*d.*; 50 crannocks of wheat, value of each, by estimate, 3*s.*; 15 crannocks of oats, value of each, by estimate, 2*s.*; 8 crannocks of barley, value of each, by estimate, 2*s.*; 2 crannocks of peas, value of each 20*d.*; two pairs of old wheels, value 6*d.*

1303. [May 29.] R[ichard] Archbishop of Dublin to the K. Had received the K.'s mandate, dated Westminster, March 10, 1302–3, ordering him to cause to be sequestrated for debts to the K. all the ecclesiastical goods in the archbishop's diocese of Ralph de Manton, deceased, late clerk of the Wardrobe, and to certify the value to the K. Having made a diligent inquisition of all Ralph's goods in the precentorship of Dublin, finds in the manor and prebend of Donahmelogh 44 acres of wheat, 2 acres of barley, and 40 acres of oats sown, value of each acre 40*d.*; 210 sheep and ewes, value of each 6*d.*; 67 lambs, value of each 2*d.*; 10 beasts of the plough, value of each 5*s.*; whereof John Toujours, Ralph's steward, claims one; 6 hogs, value of each 6*d.*; 3 heaps of wheat, in which are estimated 50 crannocks, value of each 3*s.*; a heap of oats estimated to contain 20 crannocks, value of each 3*s.*; 1 heap of barley estimated to contain 12 crannocks, value of each 2*s.* 4*d.*; 4 crannocks of peas, value of each crannock 16*d.*; 2 carts, value 12*d.*; 2 ropes, value 6*d.*; 2 ploughs, value 2*s.* 3*d.*

In the manor of Ardri, 7*s.* 3*d.* of annual rent; 4 beasts of the plough, value of each 4*s.*; 29 acres of wheat, value per acre 40*d.*; 19 acres of oats, value of the acre 3*s.*; 1 cart, value 4*d.*; a plough, 16*d.*; he did not find resistance save from Sir Roger de Lees, knight, who with an armed band had violently carried away nearly 7 score of lambs after the sequestration was imposed by the K.'s and the archbishop's authority. Finds that Ralph was frequently involved in debt as well in respect of the tenth due to the Pope as of divers debts due to the archbishop and the church. Finds also, that the houses of Ralph's precentorship are falling to ruin, because he did no repairs to them while he held the precentorship. The archbishop therefore prays on behalf of himself and his church, that the Pope, he himself, and his church and the other creditors may at least be partly satisfied out of the goods found. Even if these goods should amount to 200*l.* all the creditors cannot be fully satisfied; but the archbishop will take care of what is found until further orders. Swords. April 18. 198. Edmund le Butiller of Ireland had complained that whereas he holds in fee farm of the K. 25 villatæ of land in Connaught, rendering yearly for each villata 100*s.*; many of the villatæ had, as well during the time of Theobald his father as Theobald his brother (whose heir he is), remained uncultivated and waste, because no Englishman or Irishman would hold or inhabit them as they were subject to so great a rent. Edmund having petitioned the K. to provide for his indemnity and grant him a reduction, the K. directs John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, to cause Edmund's lands to be extended, and to certify thereupon to the K. Farfleet.

Extent taken by John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, at Loughrea in the quinzaine of the Holy Trinity, a. r. 32 [June 7, 1304]. Jurors:—Norman Fitz Ely, Geoffrey Husee, Geoffrey de Hertford, Nicholas de Hertford, John Bule, William de Hale, William Woodstock, Peter Fitz Geoffrey, John Lottyng, Simon le Graunt, Walter Laghtrath, Clement Laghtrath, Maurice le Graunt, William de la More, Richard de la More, Nicholas Cornwalys, William Osbern, Simon Goos, David Brisky, Geoffrey de Bermingham, David Bronnegan, David Kerdif, Richard Norreys, David Landa de Moynagh, William Cleer, Adam Helot, Who upon their Oath Say that the K. gave to Richard de la Rochelle, formerly justiciary of Ireland, the said 25 villatæ to hold in tail, rendering 100*s.* for each villata; Richard could never levy the rent out of these lands, although he was then justiciary of Ireland, but the then Treasurer of Ireland deducted in payment of the rent what was wanting in it out of the fee of Richard in the office of justiciary; after the death of Richard de la Rochelle, Philip his son and heir, who succeeded to him, could get little or nothing of the issues of these lands on account of the power of the Irish of those parts, who prostrated his castles, burned and wasted the lands. In consequence thereof the said Philip, who was cousin of Theobald le Butiller, father of Edmund et aliud recuperare non habuit nisi per ipsum Theobaldum, by licence of the K. demised the lands to Theobald le Butiller, father of Edmund, in exchange for Theobald's manor of Turvy, to hold for the life of Philip. Theobald, although of great power, could not during his life fully levy the rent by a great sum. Nor could [Theo]bald his son, brother of Edmund. The jurors Say that if war arose in those parts as it . . the greatest portion of Edmund's lands in Ireland would scarcely suffice for the defence of the lands aforesaid . . . . May 7. 210. Writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, or his locum tenens, commanding him to inquire by the oaths of good men of the county of Kilkenny, whether it would be to the K.'s damage, as in the inquisition below.

Inquisition taken before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, at Dublin, on Wednesday next after the feast of St. Catherine the Virgin, a. r. 32 [Nov. 27, 1303], to inquire whether it would be to the K.'s damage to grant to the Prior of Kells in Ossory, and the convent thereof, that they might have again two acres of land from William Randolf, one acre of land from Roger Cok, one acre from William Fitz Adam, one acre from John le Messer, one moiety of a carucate of land from Adam le Esker, all in Kells and acquired by the Prior and convent before the publication of the statute of mortmain. These lands were taken into the K.'s hand on account of the said acquisition.

Jurors:—William Fitz Hamo, John Fitz Simon, Jordan de Rathcashe, Owen Fitz Hugh, John Geydon, William Wynchcombe, William Fitz John, Simon Fitz William, Hamo, son of William Wulf, Roger Augevin, William Matthew, Nicholas le Muchel, who upon their oath Say that all the tenements aforesaid were anciently of the demesnes of the Prior of Kells, who enfeoffed [the following, namely] William Randalf of two acres, rendering 2*s.* a year and suit from quinzaine to quinzaine at the Prior's court, Roger Cok of one acre, William Fitz Adam of one acre, John le Messer of one acre, Hamo Fitz John a moiety of one carucate of land, which by sales came to the hands of Adam le Esker; all the tenements were in Kells. William, Roger, William, John, and Adam surrendered the lands to the Prior. All the tenants aforesaid held the tenements of the Prior by the service of 12*d.* a year for each acre of land, and doing suit from quinzaine to quinzaine at the Prior's court, excepting that Adam le Esker held a moiety of a carucate of land by the services of 22*l.* 4*d.* a year, and doing suit as above; the Prior during the whole time that the tenants held the lands was mesne between them and the Baron of Kells, who is chief lord of the fee. They further Say that it is not to the damage of the K. or of others that the Prior should again have the lands unless that the lands are of the fee of Kells in the liberty of the Earl of Gloucester of Kilkenny, where the lord of the liberty in case of felony may have the chattels of the tenants for flight, and year and waste of their tenements, &c. And they Say that to Adam le Esker, son of Adam le Esker aforesaid, there remain other lands and tenements sufficient to maintain all burdens affecting him because there remain to him five carucates of land, but the others named in the writ neither have nor had other lands, save those which they held of the Prior, and afterwards surrendered to him.

Writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, or his locum tenens, commanding him to take an inquiry as above, by oath of good men of the county of Kilkenny. Newcastle-upon-Tyne. April 4, 1304.

July 3. 238. The K. to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland. Whereas lately on information of the mayor and citizens of Dublin that the liberty of their city had been without cause, taken into the K.'s hand by Gilbert de Arderne, keeper of the market in Ireland, the K. had commanded the justiciary to certify regarding the cause of caption. The record and process (taken as well before Gilbert as before the Prior of St. John of Jerusalem in Ireland, lately locum tenens of the justiciary, and the justiciary himself) having been considered and recited before the K.'s Council, it appeared that Gilbert wanted to exercise the office of marshalsea of the city of Dublin without the K.'s verge (the justiciary then being at Tristeldermot, which is 30 leagues distant from that city) against the custom hitherto prevailing in those parts ; and that the liberty (because the mayor and citizens would not then come before Gilbert as they ought to have done to execute their office) was taken into the K.'s hand. The K. therefore commands the justiciary to restore the liberty to the mayor and citizens, to hold as before its caption, together with the issues received therefrom. Vill of St. John of Perth. [Close, 31 Edw. I., m. 7.]

July 3. 239. Writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, or his locum tenens. Whereas the K.'s progenitors were wont to have, at the city of Dublin on the water of the Avenelyf, a fixed net contiguous to the bridge of the city, which was let, as belonging to the city, by the K.'s progenitors to the citizens, together with the city itself, to hold in fee farm of the K.'s progenitors (whereby profit accrued both to the K.'s progenitors by reason of the farm, and to the city by the fish taken by the net); and whereas the citizens enjoyed this net until Roger of Ashbourne, formerly mayor of Dublin, on requisition of the Prior of Kilmainham, without licence of the K.'s progenitors, and to their damage and that of the citizens, caused it to be removed as injurious to the fishery of the prior elsewhere on the river; and whereas the citizens had prayed the K. to cause inquiry to be made regarding the premises, for the advantage as well of the K. as of the citizens, the K. commands the justiciary by oath of good men of those parts to inquire thereupon, and to send the inquisition to the K. under the seal of the justiciary, and the seals of those by whom it shall have been taken. Vill of St. John of Perth. [Indorsed.] This writ reached the justiciary of Ireland at Dublin on April 20, a. r. 32 [1304].

The K.'s writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, or his locum tenens. Whereas the K. has been informed that the pavement of the city of Dublin is so destroyed and broken that passing through the city is irksome and costly to passengers. The citizens of Dublin had therefore prayed the K. to grant them customs to pave the city similar to those he had lately granted for its murage. Wishing to grant the prayers of the citizens so far as he can without prejudice to himself or others, the K. commands the justiciary to inquire by the oath of good men of those parts if it would be to the K.'s damage to grant to the citizens for five years customs such as they had for inclosing the city. [Ante, vol. IV., No. 435.] St. John of Perth. [Indorsed.] This writ arrived at Dublin on April 20, a. r. 32 [1304].

Inquisition taken at Dublin before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, on Tuesday next after the feast of St. Mark the Evangelist, a. r. 32 [April 28, 1304], at the suit of the mayor and commonalty of the city of Dublin, by two writs of the K. Jurors:—John, son of Rirych, Walter de Kenleye, John Wodelok, Adam de Houeth, Adam de Cromelin, Richard Talbot, Bertram Abbot, Simon de Camerâ, John le Marshal, John Walensis, Maurice Baret, William le Whyte, Who upon their oath Say, that the K.'s progenitors were wont to have a net on the river Anna Liffey before the city of Dublin, with its liberties, was delivered by King John on farm to the citizens of that city, at a profit of ten pounds; afterwards the citizens of Dublin used the net to their own profit for so much. They likewise Say that a contention in the time of the Lord Edward and, a. r. 53, Hen. III. having arisen between Henry Prior of the House of St. John of Jerusalem in Ireland and the mayor and commonalty of Dublin on account of that net existing on the river, the prior and his men by force and arms broke it, whereupon the mayor and citizens went to a mill belonging to the Prior and laid it low; and so from that time no such net remained on the Anna Liffey, but was removed by the mayor and commonalty by virtue of a fine for allaying the contention between them.

The jurors further Say upon their oath that passage through all the by-ways of the city is very irksome to persons passing on horseback or on foot, that it would be to the great advantage of all the city, and of all coming thither, if the by-ways were paved, and that it would not be to the damage of the K. or of others if the K. confided the customs contained in the writ to the citizens, except only that it would be to the damage of the merchants in so far as they should pay those customs.

The K. caused his letters patent to be made to the bailiffs and good men of the city of Dublin, under the testimony of Brother William of Ross, locum tenens [of justiciary], in these words :—then follows recital of grant of murage for 5 years to the bailiffs and good men of Dublin, all as ante, Vol. IV., No. 435, except that there is a grant of one farthing murage for each two shillings' worth of merchandise not enumerated, and that the following are omitted :—each piece of foreign cloth, 1*d.*; each piece of foreign linen cloth, ½*d.*; each hundred of canvas, ½*d.*; each weigh of fat, ½*d.*; each ship laden with the weight of 40 hogsheads of wine for sale anywhere, 16*s.* Tested by William de Ross, Prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in Ireland, locum tenens of chief justiciary. Dublin, February 8, a. r. 30 [1301–2]. [Inq. P.M., 31 Edw. I., No. 153.]

July 10. 240. Order to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, to cause the peace made between the K. and Philip King of France to be proclaimed in cities, &c. in the land of Ireland. Vill of St. John of Perth. [Close, 31 Edw. I., m. 7 d.]

Aug. 1. 241. The K. to the sheriff of Hereford. Whereas the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, notified that Geoffrey de Geynville had paid into that Exchequer 56*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, out of 223*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* which he long ago received on loan from the K. in England, and regarding which the K. had granted to Geoffrey that he might repay 50 marks a year until the whole should be discharged. The K. therefore commands the sheriff to supersede, until the quinzaine of St. Michael next ensuing, the demand which he makes against Joan, who was the wife of Peter son of Geoffrey de Geynville, regarding the 223*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, by reason of lands and tenements being in the hands of Joan, of the gift of Geoffrey. Aberbrothock. [Close, 31 Edw. I., m. 5.]

July 10. 242. The K. to the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin. Whereas for a fine of 100*s.* made by Nicholas Prior of the House of St. Mary of Louth before Philip de Wylgheby, locum tenens of the Treasurer of England, the K. had pardoned to the Prior and Convent their transgressions in acquiring in fee a rent of 32*s.* 4½*d.* in Louth, of the gift of William Hamelyn, after the publication of the statute of mortmain, which rent was taken into the K.'s hand by Walter l'Enfaunt and his associates, justices itinerant at Drogheda towards Uriel, the K. grants that the Prior and Convent may have the rent again as more fully appears by letters patent granted to them, and directs the Treasurer and Barons, on receiving security for the fine, to deliver the rent to the Prior and Convent. Vill of St. John of Perth. [Originalia, 31 Edw. I., m. 15.]

Pleas at Dublin before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, in one month of Easter, a. r. 30.

Pleas at Dublin in the quinzaine of Trinity, a. r. 28, before Simon de Ludgate and his associates, justices of the Common Pleas, Dublin. Simon de Feypo complains that Theobald de Verdun committed waste and destruction of a hall worth 20*l.* by permitting it to fall, and by carrying away timber; thence also waste and destruction of a chamber worth 20 marks, of a stable worth 10 marks, of a bakery worth 10 marks, of a granary worth 10 marks, of another chamber worth 20*l.*, of another stable worth 10 marks, of 200 apple trees worth 20*l.*, 100 pear trees worth 10*l.*, of 30,000 great ash trees worth 200*l.*, 1,000 large alder trees worth 60*l.*; whereby Simon is damnified to the extent of 2,000*l.* Theobald comes and defends the force and injury, and says that he did not commit the waste wherewith he is charged; that he took in the wood there 12 ash trees and 12 alder trees, while Simon was in his custody, as he was permitted to do; that he committed no other waste; and thereupon he puts himself upon the country, and Simon the same.

Wherefore the sheriff is ordered to go to the manor of Santry; cause a jury of 12 men to come thither, &c., and in presence of the parties inquire, &c.

Pleas before the same on the morrow of St. Martin. The parties come, and Theobald by his attorney says that in so arduous an affair the inquisition ought to be taken before the justices of the Common Pleas and not the sheriff; and Simon complains that the sheriff is a bosom friend of Theobald, in his apparel and his pay, and demands that a proper officer be associated with him to take the inquisition. He is, therefore, ordered to associate with him the keepers of the pleas of the Crown of Fingal, and inquire, &c.

Theobald complained that the sheriff and keepers had taken the inquisition by parties open to suspicion and far from the venue, to wit, of Leinster; the sheriff was therefore directed to take with him, with consent of the parties, Simon de Ludgate and Thomas de Snytery, justices of the Common Pleas, and go to the manor, summon a jury, and in presence of the parties, &c., if, &c.

On the quinzaine of St. Martin the parties come. The sheriff had at another time, to wit, at the quinzaine of Michaelmas last past, sent the inquisition, which says that after the death of Richard de Feypou, who holds the manor of Santry in capite of Theobald aforesaid, Theobald entered the manor by reason of the minority of Richard, son and heir of Richard aforesaid, who was, as it were, in his custody, at which time Theobald and his men committed waste in the houses, gardens, and woods, to the damage of 100*s*. This Richard, thus in custody of Theobald, died under age. After the death of Richard, son and heir of Richard, Simon aforesaid, brother and heir of Richard son of Richard, remained in custody of Theobald until his lawful age. The jury says upon their oath that Simon was in custody of Theobald, and that Theobald and his men committed waste in the houses, gardens, and woods which he had in his cnstody of Simon's inheritance, to the amount of 62*l*. 6*s*. 8*d*. Wherefore it is adjudged that Simon recover against Theobald the damages aforesaid according to the form of the statute in triplicate, and Theobald is amerced for the trespass. Order to the sheriff for execution.

Assignment of error by Theobald; traverse of error by Simon, and reversal of judgment by the court. [Coram Rege, Edw. I., No. 175, Rot. 76.]

Oct. 8. 256. The K. to the Dean and Chapter of Cashel, custodians of the archbishopric of Cashel during vacancy. The officer having thereupon quashed the election; the K., at the requisition of the precentor, treasurer, archdeacon, Benedict, Matthew, Thomas, and Maurice, gives the royal assent to the election of the said Maurice O'Bryen as bishop of Kilfenora. David, precentor, John, treasurer, Charles, archdeacon, Isaac, chancellor, and Benedict, Matthew, Thomas, and Maurice, canons of that church, elected Maurice O'Brien; and the other brothers and canons discordantly elected the dean of that church [Cashel ?]. The official of the Dean and Chapter [of Cashel] having thereupon examined the elections quashed that of the Dean. The K., therefore, at the requisition of the precentor and the others aforesaid, gives the royal assent to the election of the said Maurice O'Brien. Kildrummy. [Pat., 31 Edw. I., m. 10.]

Oct. 8. 258. The K. to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland. The Dean and Chapter of Kilfenora having discordantly elected as above, and the official of the Dean and Chapter of Cashel (custodians of the the spirituality of the archbishopric of Cashel during vacancy) having quashed the election of the dean, the K. had given the royal assent to the election of Maurice O'Brien. The K. further grants to Maurice and gives power to the justiciary that if the election be confirmed by the custodians the justiciary may receive fealty from Maurice and restore the temporalities, having first taken from him letters under his seal and that of his chapter that this grace shall not tend to the K.'s prejudice or disherison, nor hereafter be drawn into a precedent. Kildrummy. [Pat. 31 Edw. I., m. 10.]

Whereas the K. had summoned the citizens and merchants of the city of Bayonne to be before the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, York, to render an account of the custom of wools, woolfels, and hides assigned to them, both in Ireland and England, until they should be fully satisfied regarding certain debts due to them by the K.; and whereas the Treasurer and Barons in computing with the citizens and merchants regarding the issues of the custom cannot ascertain how much of the K.'s debt remains due unless certified thereupon by the Treasurer and Barons of Dublin, the K. therefore commands the latter to cause the keepers and receivers of the custom to come before them and certify under the seal of the Irish Exchequer regarding the amount received out of the issues of that custom. be made to them for debts due by the K.), to be before the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer at York on the morrow of All Souls next ensuing, to render an account of the issues of the custom; and whereas the Treasurer and Barons in accounting with the citizens cannot ascertain how much will remain due to the citizens of the sum in which the K. was bound to them, unless they are informed by the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, how much the keepers and receivers of the custom on the part of the citizens in Ireland have received of the issues of the custom; the K. therefore commands the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, to cause the keepers and receivers to come before them, and accounting with them until the feast of St. Andrew [Nov. 30] next ensuing, to certify the Treasurer and Barons of England under the seal of the Dublin Exchequer how much was received by them of the issues of the custom in Ireland, allowing to the keepers and receivers their reasonable expenses as they were wont to allow to foreign merchants, keeping that custom in times gone by. Witness the Treasurer. [Memoranda, L.T.R., 31–32 Edw. I., Rot. 58.]

Nov. 25. 271. The K. to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland. Whereas among the lands which the K. by charter had long ago given to Otho de Grandison, the K. had granted to him in fee the services payable to the K. by the tenants out of the manor of Rathcon and the vill of Carryk in the counties of Tipperary and Waterford. The K. having acquired the manor and vill from the tenants thereof, and the services having been subtracted from Otho during the whole time that the K. held the manor and vill. The K. wishes to be certified what services were wont to be rendered to Otho out of the manor and vill before the K. acquired them, and what the services may be yearly worth. The K. commands the justiciary by oath of good men to inquire regarding the premises. Dunfermline.

Inquisition taken at Clonmel before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, by the K.'s mandate, on Monday next after the octaves of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist, a. r. 32 [July 6, 1304], to inquire as above. Jurors :—Sir Walter le Bret, Sir Thomas de St. John, knights, Geoffrey Fitz Elias de White, Richard le Marshal, Robert de Walour, Richard Malorek', Reginald de London, John de London, Ralph Bured', William Fitz David, Henry Haket de Geel, Richard de Boyton, Nicholas de Stafford, Roger Turbreville, Who upon their oath Say, that Richard de Geyton in his lifetime held the manor of Rathcon of Otho de Grandison by the service of 26*s.* 8*d.*, as often as the K.'s service was proclaimed, and doing suit at Otho's court of Kylfeclal as often as a court was held there. On the death of Richard, Ralph his brother and heir entered the manor to hold of Otho as aforesaid, and before the feast of St. Peter ad Vincula, a. r. 24 [Aug. 1, 1296], sold it to the K., whereby the K. obtained the manor for 3 years ensuing. And they Say that within the 3 years aforesaid the K.'s service was proclaimed at Combre in the time of John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, so that the service was subtracted during that time, and also the suit of court with other issues, to the damage of Otho of 40*s.*, besides the service. Afterwards the K. demised the manor of Rathcon to Geoffrey le Bret in exchange for Carrig, so that Geoffrey held the manor of Rathcon from Otho by suits and services, as his tenants had previously held it before the K.'s entry. And they Say, that Geoffrey le Bret held the vill and lands del Carrig, in the county of Tipperary, of Otho aforesaid, by the service of 26*s.* and 8*d.* at every K.'s service, and doing suit at [Otho's] court of Kilselan. Soon after the feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist, a. r. 27 [June 24, 1299], Geoffrey demised the vill and his lands of Carrig in exchange for the manor of Rathcon, whereupon the K. held the vill and lands of Carrig for 5 years ensuing and still holds them. Within this time three services were proclaimed, which were subtracted by the K.'s minister, and also the suit and other issues were withdrawn by the same to the loss of Otho of 40*s.* a year, besides the service aforesaid when it occurs. And they Say, that if those services with the suit and other issues of the lands of Carrig be subtracted from Otho, he should then incur a loss of 40*s.* a year, besides the service proclaimed.

Indorsed. It behoveth newly to inquire regarding the services due out of the tenements within written distinctly, aptly, and specially, and not generally, how much each service is yearly worth by itself, and of all particulars, specially and not generally, from what time the services were subtracted, &c.

1303–4. Jan. 13. 279. The K. to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland. The K. had learned by inquisition taken by Walter de Gloucester, escheator beyond the Trent, that Edmund le Butiller, of Ireland, is son and heir of Joan la Butiller, of Ireland, who held of the K. in capite at her death, and is of full age. And whereas the said Edmund, at the time when Richard de Burgh, Earl of Gloucester, was at Dublin on his way to the K. in Scotland, came thither with a sufficient force of men-at-arms prepared to come to Scotland with the Earl on the K.'s service; and whereas, for the security of the K. and of Ireland, it had been unanimously agreed by counsel and assent of the K.'s lieges at Dublin that Edmund should remain in Ireland with his force in aid of the K.'s other lieges of those parts, the K. for that reason, desirous to render special grace to Edmund, restores to him all his lands, both in England and in Ireland, accruing to him by hereditary right on the death of Joan, and gives power to the justiciary to take from Edmund fealty of all the lands which she held of the K. in capite at her death. April 15. 300. Inquisition taken at Tathmolingbeg before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, on Wednesday, morrow of Sts. Tiburtius and Valerian, a. r. 32, whether it would be to the loss of the K. that Gilbert le Palmer should again have and hold of the K. 1 messuage and 1 carucate of lands in Collan near Tristeldermot, whereof Adam son of Philip Bennet infeoffed the said Gilbert without the K.'s licence. Jurors.—Adam Manning, Henry Leynach, John le Blund, of the vill of Cavan, John Janel, Luke le Marischal, Thomas Bond, [ ] de Mone, Richard le Chamberlain, Walter Marchant, John de Mone, Walter le Chamberlain, David Wyse, Who upon their oath Say that Adam son of Philip Bennet, who infeoffed Gilbert aforesaid of 1 messuage and 1 carucate of land in Collan, held the tenements aforesaid of the K. in capite by the service of 1 lb. of pepper and 1 lb. of cumin, or 14*d.* a year, doing suit at the K.'s court of Tristeldermot; and they say it would not be to the damage of the K. or of others that Gilbert should hold the lands by the service aforesaid as Adam held it, because Gilbert would be a more useful tenant for the K. than Adam. And they Say that if Adam had not sold the tenements to Gilbert, he would have sold them to some one else. They further Say that the messuage and land are worth in all issues 71*s.* a year.

The K.'s writ to John Wogan, justiciary, and Richard de Bereford, Treasurer of Ireland, or their locum tenentes. Whereas the K. had recently sent them an inquisition (as above), and had commanded them to accept a fine from Gilbert for his transgression in acquiring and entering the messuage and land without licence. As they had done nothing thereupon, the K. now repeats his order. Walsingham, Feb. 2, a. r. 33 [1304–5].

Indorsed.—Gilbert le Palmer made a fine of 10 marks before John Wogan, the justiciary, and Thomas de Chaddeworth, locum tenens of the Treasurer of Ireland, in the Exchequer, Dublin, in the octaves of the Holy Trinity, with the assent of the Barons, and in the presence of others of the Council. No other writ came. Wherefore this writ with the Inquisition is delivered to Gilbert to be conveyed to the K., and be it known that the fine aforesaid is inrolled in the rolls of the justiciary of the same term.

Petition to the K. and council from Gilbert le Palmer. Philip Benet held a messuage and a carucate of land near Tristeldermot in the county of Kildare. Thither came Richard de Gaitone, clerk of Alienor, Queen of England, and ejected the said Philip from the messuage and land. Whereupon Philip took out a writ of Novel Disseisin against Richard before John de Saunford, formerly Archbishop of Dublin, locum tenens of the chief justiciary of Ireland. To this writ Richard pleaded that Philip ought not to be answered, because he was an Irishman. Philip said he was English, and put himself upon a jury, which found that Philip was English, was held as such all his life, and died seized of this estate. After his death Adam, son and heir of Philip, took out a writ in the K.'s Irish chancery, commanding the escheator to inquire of whom Philip held the land at his death, and who was his next heir. It was thereupon found that Adam was next heir, and of age and that Philip held the messuage and land at his death of the Queen aforesaid. Gilbert afterwards purchased the messuage and land from Adam without the K.'s licence, upon which they were taken into the K.'s hand. Gilbert thereupon took out a writ to John Wogan, chief justiciary of Ireland, that he should cause the record and process to come to England. Whereupon he had a writ to the said justiciary to inquire if it would be to the K.'s damage that Gilbert should hold the premises of the K. in capite, whereupon it was found as in the inquisition above. But as to his having purchased the tenements without licence the K. sent his writ to the justiciary and treasurer to take a fine from Gilbert for the transgression. The fine was received and inrolled in the Exchequer of Dublin. Wherefore Gilbert prays that the K. would by his charter confirm his estate.

Indorsed:—Afterwards he made a fine; let him satisfy it and have the lands. [Inq. P.M., 32 Edw. I., No. 98.]

Easter. 301. John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, or his locum tenens, had been commanded that, because the K. had caused to come before the K. a record and process of an assise of Novel Disseisin lately in the K.'s court, before the justiciary in Dublin, between Thomas de Bodinham, complainant, and Thomas de Rathlawe, Alexander de Bodynham, and Hugh de Trikyngham, of tenements in Nevet and Thoman [ante, 30–31 Edw. I., Michs.], he should summon Thomas to come before the K. in one month of Easter to hear the record and process, and further to do what the court should order, &c. The justiciary returned that Thomas was dead. Wherefore the justiciary was commanded to summon Cecily, daughter and heir of Thomas, Adam Coffyn, Scholastica his wife, and Nicholas de Wotton, tenants of the lands, to appear before the K. in the quinzaine of Michaelmas. Writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, commanding him to extend the manor of John de Mohun, of Grange Mohun, in the county of Kildare. Stepney. May 10, a. r. 27.

Pleas at Dublin before Edmund le Butler and others of the K.'s council there present, Richard de Burgh, Earl of Ulster, being associated with them. Quinzaine of Hilary, a. r. 33 [1304–5].

Writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, Linlithgow, Aug. 15, 1304 (as above). By virtue of this writ Edmund le Butler, locum tenens of the justiciary, caused it to be recited in full council, and it seemed to all that it would be to less damage of the K., as to all the places in Ireland, if the K. should grant to John the K.'s tenements at New Castle Mc Kinegan, where there is a very weak and small castle in a strong march; or that the K. would please to give him the lands which belonged to John de Mohun, whereof the greater part is in the land of peace; and it was agreed that the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, should extend the K.'s tenements at Newcastle. The extent was made and delivered to Edmund in these words. First extent, as above [Feb. 9, 1304–5], taken before the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer. And it was agreed that the tenements which belonged to John de Mohun should not be extended because they had been extended elsewhere before John Wogan, the justiciary, according to their true value, and if they were extended anew they might be extended at less than they had been before. The transcript of the extent taken thereupon, which remains in the Exchequer, is sent to the K. as follows:—

Newcastle of Lyons, near Dublin, as in right of his church, by exchange thereof made between the K. and Matthew O'Hogan, formerly bishop of that place, for lands at Roscrea, the said Maurice committed the lands in fee to Thomas son of James O'Hogan without the consent of his chapter and without licence from the K., and that Robert de Dundonald, as guardian of Thomas, received the issues for 3 years. The K. had been certified that John de Bohun had by licence enfeoffed in fee John de Saunford of all his lands in Ireland, to hold to the said John de Saunford and his heirs and assigns of said John de Bohun; that John de Saunford held by virtue of the feoffment and by the K.'s licence the manor of Balymadan, with other lands, of the said John de Bohun, son and heir, then under age, of John de Bohun aforesaid; that John de Saunford was a bastard and died without heir of himself; and that the manor and lands aforesaid on the death of John de Saunford were taken into the K.'s hand for debts which he owed to the K. at the Exchequer of Dublin; that afterwards, on account of the minority of James, they remained in the K.'s hand; and that no person but James has a right to the escheat. June 17. 421. The K. to Master William de Hotham and Guy de Vikio, parson of the church of Hese, collectors of the tenth of the clergy of Ireland, imposed by Pope Boniface VIII. for 3 years. Whereas by letters obligatory the K. is bound to John Grandon, Matthew Clarissimi, and Gerard Hugon', merchants of the company of Spini, of Florence, in 1,000 marks sterling, which they had paid by the K.'s orders to the Venerable Father Walter de Wynterburne, cardinal priest, for his expenses and other necessaries touching the state of the cardinalate, as appears by the cardinal's letters of receipt. The K. therefore commands William and Guy that out of the moneys of the tenth levied by them they pay the 1,000 marks to the said merchants or their attorney, receiving from them or him the K.'s letters aforesaid and letters of acquittance. June 16. 422. The K. to the Treasurer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer, Dublin. Whereas the K. had committed to John de Seleby the office of doorkeeper of that Exchequer, to hold during his life and during good behaviour; the K. commands the Treasurer and Chamberlains to pay to John one penny and one halfpenny a day for his wages, according to the tenour of an indenture regarding fees of ministers of that Exchequer, one part of which indenture is preserved in the Exchequer of England and the other in the Exchequer of Dublin. Witness myself. Chichester. [Q.R., Irish Exchequer, $\frac{5}{1}\frac{3}{1}\frac{3}{}$ A., No. 81.]

June 16. 423. The K. to William de Hothum, canon of St. Patrick's, Dublin, and Guy de Wykyo, parson of the church of Hese, collectors of the tenth imposed on the clergy of Ireland by the K.'s assent for 3 years by the late Pope Boniface VIII. Whereas the Pope had lately granted to the K. for arduous and urgent affairs one moiety of that tenth, the other moiety being reserved in aid of the church of Rome, if the Pope should survive the 3 years; and if the Pope should happen to die within the term, or peace should be renewed regarding the war touching Sicily, from that time he granted that all the residue should be applied to the K.'s use. And whereas the K. has learned that William and Guy, on pretext of vain and frivolous excuses of certain ecclesiastical persons regarding the Pope's death and the revocation of the commission, had superseded the levy and collection of the tenth to the K.'s loss; and whereas Master Gerardus de Pecoraria, proctor for collecting the tenth, had expressly revoked everything that had been done in this matter, as well in England as Ireland. Wherefore the K. (inasmuch as the tenth is wholly due to him by virtue of the grant) commands William and Guy, by virtue of their allegiance, to compel all ecclesiastical persons of whatsoever dignity in Ireland, by sentences of excommunication, suspension, and interdict, and by sequestration of their goods, to pay the amount of tenth so in arrear. They shall certify to the justiciary of Ireland and the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin, the names of those who do not pay, in order that they may be proceeded against. Chichester.

Mandate thereupon to the justiciary and the Treasurer and Barons. [Pat., 33 Edw. I., pt. 2, m. 21.]

June 17. 425. The K. to R[ichard] Archbishop of Dublin. Whereas Pope Boniface VIII., deceased, had granted to the K. for urgent affairs touching him and the kingdom, a moiety of the tenth imposed on the clergy of England and Ireland for 3 years, the other moiety being reserved in aid of the church if the Pope survived during the 3 years, and if he died during that time, or peace were renewed in the war of Sicily, thenceforth he granted the whole residue to the K.'s use. The K. was now informed that Master William de Hothum, canon of the church of St. Patrick's, Dublin, and Guy de Vikio, parson of the church of Hese, collectors of the tenth in Ireland, on pretext of frivolous excuses of certain ecclesiastical persons of the death of the Pope, and because Master Gerard de Pecoaria (who asserted that he had been appointed by the Pope's envoy to collect the said money) revoked the commission made to them by the Bishop of London and Master Bartholomew de Ferentino, canon of London, principal collectors of the tenth in England and Ireland; and whereas Master Gerard had revoked all that had been done in this respect in England and Ireland, as appears by a public instrument sent to William and Guy. Wherefore the K. commands the Archbishop of Dublin, by ecclesiastical censure or otherwise, to be intentive, aiding, and consulting, to William and Guy in levying the tenth. If the tenth is not quickly levied in the archbishop's diocese the K. will cause the money to be levied out of the archbishop's goods and temporalities.

Trinity. 431. Writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, or his locum tenens. Whereas a plaint before the justiciary without the K.'s writ between Geoffrey de Morton, late Mayor of the city of Dublin, and Richard de Bereford, Treasurer of the Exchequer, Dublin, regarding trespasses and grievances inflicted on Geoffrey by the Treasurer and Barons, and also another plaint of trespasses and grievances inflicted on the same by the same, had met with lengthy delay, the K. commands the justiciary to proceed to judgment regarding those plaints, and if any difficulty should occur regarding them to certify the K. or send the record and process of them before him by the quinzaine of the Purification next ensuing. By virtue of this writ the justiciary sent the record and process of divers plaints by Geoffrey before the K.'s council in Ireland. Geoffrey being solemnly called did not come or prosecute his plaints. Wherefore Geoffrey without day. After Geoffrey was taken before the K. by the Marshal on the morrow of St. John the Baptist, a. r. 34, and arraigned of 20 hogsheads of wine forfeited to the use of the K., as was said by reason of the unloading of 13 hogsheads of wine at Dalkey without prisage being paid there, in which ship those 20 hogsheads of wine were, as appears in the 12th article of Geoffrey's complaints.

In the Treasurer's answer he says that according to the custom of those parts all merchants with ships laden with wine passing from Dalkey towards Dublin may discharge the ships of a portion of the wines in order to lighten the ships without paying prisage thereupon, provided they satisfy the K. for the prisage in Dublin or the precinct of its liberty, and he says that satisfaction for the prisage of 13 hogsheads of wine was made at Karnan within the precinct of the liberty of Dublin, and this he prays may be inquired of. Mandate to John Wogan to inquire in presence of Geoffrey regarding the custom and the payment of prisage, and certify to the K. John Wogan sent the inquisition taken before him at Dublin on Friday next before the feast of St. Andrew the Apostle. The jury says that no large ships laden with wines or other merchandise can touch at the port of Dublin until they are partly discharged, whereby, according to a custom which has hitherto prevailed, ships laden with wines were wont to touch at Dalkey and there partly discharge, and the wines so discharged were wont to be conveyed to the city of Dublin in small barks without payment of prisage, and after the discharge the ships, with the residue of the wines, were wont to touch at Carnan, which is within the precinct of the city, and then the collector of the prisage was wont to take it either of the wines left in the ship or the wines discharged, whether they were in cellars or not; provided that there should be no sale without licence from the collector of prisage. Geoffrey de Morton sold no wines without payment of prisage. A day is given to Geoffrey in one month of Easter to hear judgment as well on the verdict of the Inquisition as his leaving in contempt. Mainprise for Geoffrey, as it does not appear whether the inquisition was taken in presence of the Treasurer. Mandate to the justiciary to certify in the quinzaine of St. Martin, a.r. 1 Edw. II., on which day the justiciary certified that the inquisition was taken in the Exchequer of Dublin in the presence of Richard de Bereford, the Treasurer, and the Barons of the Exchequer. Inquisition, pursuant to the writ taken at Tristeldermot before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, on the quinzaine of St. Michael, a. r. 33 [1305]. Jurors:—Walter de Valle, Richard du Lyt, John de Staunton, William Gaynard, William and Walter Haket, knights, Adam le Poer, Michael de Kerdyf, Hamo Fitz Thomas, Philip Fitz Adam, Geoffrey Husee, Stephen le Bronde, William le Waleys, Nicholas le Hore, of the earldom of Connaught. Who upon their oath Say that Typerbride and Loghree are distant about 30 leagues from each other, and it would be much to the advantage of the K. and the whole [country] if a chantry of this kind were founded in one or other of the places, if for no other reason, for the teaching of children in those parts where learning is too scarce. And as to the 40 librates of land in Loghre and Typerbride, and the advowsons of churches of their manors, They Say that it is not to the damage of the K. or of others that the K. should grant in the form aforesaid, unless in the case of escheat or in the time of custody by minority of an heir, when the K. should lose the custody of the land and his presentation of the churches if vacant at the time of the custody, because the earl holds each of the above manors with all his other lands in Connaught, which are worth more than 1,000*l.*, of the K. in capite by the service of 20 knights' fees and a rent of 500 marks a year. And they Say that the church of Loghre is yearly worth 20*l.*, and the church of Typerbride six marks a year, and besides his lands in Connaught there remain to the earl in Meath, Ulster, Leinster, and Munster more than one thousand librates of land, which he holds of the K. in capite. But of the churches of St. Nicholas of Knocfergus, Greencastle, Balybony, Dou-

Aug. 18. 441. The K. to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland. The church of St. Patrick in Down being lately vacant by the death of N[icholas] bishop of that see, the K., on the prayer of the Prior and Convent of Down, had granted to them that they might elect another bishop, with power to the justiciary to give the royal assent when election made, and when the elect should be presented to him, and on confirmation to deliver the temporalities. archbishopric during vacancy. Nevertheless the justiciary had deferred restoring the temporalities because he had not proof of confirmation by letters of the Archbishop of Armagh. Whereas, on the requisition of R[ichard] Archbishop of Dublin, the K. had given him respite until the ensuing feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist of the demand made against him for moneys of that tenth in which he is bound. Havering. [Pat., 33 Edw. I., pt. 2, m. 12.]

Sept. 24. 445. The K. to Richard de Bereford, Treasurer of the Exchequer, Dublin. Westminster. [Close, 33 Edw. I., m. 6.]

Michaelmas. 446. Mandate to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland. Whereas John de Bruges, some time bailiff of Otho de Grandison in Ireland, acknowledged before Ralph de Sandwich, late custos of the city of London, and John de Banguelle, deputy receiver of recognizances of debts in that city, that he owed to Otto 200*l.*, whereof he ought to have paid at the feast of the Purification, a. r. 19, 50 marks, at the feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist next ensuing, 50 marks, and so on from year to year until the 200*l.* should be discharged. The money not having been paid the justiciary is directed to issue a scire facias to Master Thomas Cantok, Richard de Val, Walter le Bret, Jordan Comyn, William de Bruges, Thomas de St. John, Reginald de London, John Baret, Master Philip Haket, and Thomas Picot, tenants of the lands, which were of the said John, to be before the K. in one month of Michaelmas, to show why Otto should not have seisin of the lands which belonged to John on the day of the recognizance according to the form of the statute. The justiciary certified that he had caused a scire facias to issue to Master Thomas and the others. Master Thomas and Thomas Picot say nothing why Otto should not have seisin of the lands of John aforesaid. Wherefore John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, is directed to deliver to Otto aforesaid all the lands which were of the said John on the day when the debt was acknowledged, to hold according to the form of the statute; and to certify to the K. in the quinzaine of Michaelmas. Westminster, April 10, a. r. 33 [1305]. The chancellor appears and says that he holds the prebend, and that he had entry therein in a due and legitimate manner by the commissary of the Archbishop of Dublin, then locum tenens of the Ordinary, at the time of the last vacancy of the see of Ferns and this he is prepared to verify. The Archbishop of Dublin is therefore ordered to certify to the K. at the next Parliament after Easter how the chancellor holds the prebend, by whom and by whose presentation he had entry therein, and from what time and also whether Master Richard was ever in possession of the prebend, and for what cause he was removed therefrom. [Coram Rege, Edw. I., No. 183, Rot. 75 dors.]

Michaelmas. 448. Robert de Halliwell arraigned before K. and his Council, and inculpated for having led a multitude of armed men into Otho de Grandison's vill of Tipperary, by which leading divers contentions arose in the vill in which 6 men of Otho were killed, and afterwards malefactors led by Robert aforesaid attracted and collected a large multitude, and burned, destroyed, and sacked Otho's land, and also the K.'s lands, to wit, in the county of Tipperary and Limerick, to the K.'s damage of 10,000*l.* and against the peace (comes and says that he ought not to answer here and there, for he says that at another time in Ireland, before John de Wogan, chief justiciary of Ireland, he was arraigned on all the premises, and before the same duly acquitted, and of this he puts himself on the record of the said justiciary.) The latter is therefore commanded to search the rolls and certify to the K. in the next Parliament after Easter. Let the same Robert in the meantime be kept in custody. 485. Writ to John de Ponte, justice assigned. Whereas Richard Fitz Robert, by judgment of court and recognition of assize of Novel Disseisin before Thomas de Sniterby, John son of Riry, and Simon de Ludgate, justices assigned, between Richard aforesaid and Master William de la Ryvere, had recovered against the said William his seisin of one messuage and 4 carucates of land in the vill of Platyn, and afterwards on the prosecution of the said William the K. had ordered the record and process to come before him, when the judgment was annulled for error, and it was further adjudged that William aforesaid should recover his seisin of the tenements aforesaid. Nigel le Brun was enfeoffed by Richard aforesaid of a part of the tenements aforesaid while the cause was pending. In an assize of Novel Disseisin of that part against the same William, who by force and effect of the judgment rendered before the K. had recovered his seisin of the tenements aforesaid, it was alleged that William had recovered his seisin by judgment of the K.'s court, nevertheless John and his associates had proceeded to judgment, to take the assize and adjudicate seisin to Nigel, to the invalidation of the judgment rendered before the K. The K. therefore commands the justice to send before the K. for error the record and process of that assize with the original writ, &c., so that the K. may have them before him in the octaves of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin. The justice shall until further orders supersede the judgment so far as damages adjudged to Nigel are concerned. Brustwick, 14th November, a. r. 33. By virtue of this writ John aforesaid sent the record and process in these words:—

Pleas of assize at Drogheda towards Meath before John de Ponte and William le Deveneys, justices assigned, on the morrow of St. Lawrence, Aug. 11, a. r. 32 [1304]. The assise comes to recognize if Master William de la Ryvere and Richard Fitz Robert unjustly disseised Nigel le Brun of one messuage and 16 score acres of land of his free tenement in Platyn.

The said Richard Fitz Robert does not come. The sheriff returns that he was not attached because he was not found. Let the assize against him be taken by default. The said Master William de la Ryvere does not come, but Roger Curteys, his bailiff, comes, and says that the assize ought not to be, because at another time Richard son of Robert brought the assize against than said Master William de la Ryvere and William le Balygorman of one messuage and 4 acres of land in Platyn in which the tenements now sued for were contained, which Richard by assize of Novel Disseisin before Simon de Ludgate, Thomas de Sniterby, and John Fitz Ririck, justices assigned, recovered the tenements against Master de la Ryvere as tenant thereof by judgment. Master William de la Ryvere, asserting that the judgment was erroneous, brought a writ to cause the record and process to come before John Wogan, the justiciary, by writ of Chancery of Ireland, and a scire facias was issued to Richard aforesaid, the tenant of the premises, to be before the said chief justiciary on a certain day, and another writ of scire facias was issued to Nigel le Brun, who claims 20 librates of rent in the said tenements of the grant of Richard Fitz Robert aforesaid. Afterwards the record and process having been brought before the chief justiciary, Nigel le Brun appeared and portested against the errors assigned by Master William de la Ryvere in the record and process aforesaid, and alleged that there was no error. Judgment that Master William recover his seisin of all the tenements which he had previously lost by an erroneous judgment. This could not be if the feoffment held good, and so the said judgment rendered by the K. would be delusory and of no effect, which ought not to be. Nor ought feoffments made by tenants pending a suit in the K.'s court to be held good in fraud of the parties and in deceit of the K.'s court, fraud and deceit ought to benefit no man. It is adjudged that the judgment rendered on the assize be wholly revoked and annulled as erroneous, and that the feoffment of the tenements aforesaid to Nigel be held as null. Master William shall recover his seisin of the tenements, with the damages recovered against him, notwithstanding the judgment saving the rights of all parties. [Coram Rege, Edw. I., No. 182, Rot. 56.]

April 25. 505. The K. to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, and the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin. Whereas Robert de Brus, formerly Earl of Carrick, and his accomplices, who had traitorously risen against the K., persisted in daily perpetrating manifold injuries against the K. in Scotland, the K. to repress their rebellion had sent Edward Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester with a large armed force to Scotland, whither the K. himself would speedily follow. The K. therefore commands the justiciary, Treasurer and Barons to cause the supplies which the K. had ordered to be provided in Ireland, and to be carried to Skinburness to be sent with all haste thither; and besides those supplies to cause 200 hogsheads of wine out of the issues of Ireland to be bought for the K.'s use and carried to Skinburness, for warning those who are to carry the previous supplies to convey the latter supplies to the same place, and not to approach Galloway or other confines of Scotland. Winchester. [Pat., 34 Edw. I., m. 27.]

March 1. 506. The K. to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, and the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, Dublin. Whereas to curb the rebellion and malice of the newly risen Scotch, the K. proposed to cross over to those parts with horses and arms in the ensuing summer; the K. would therefore necessarily want divers kinds of provisions for the sustenance of himself and of the magnates and lieges with him. Wherefore the K. commands the justiciary and the Treasurer and Barons to provide, out of ths issues of Ireland, 3,000 quarters of wheat, 3,000 quarters of oats, 1,000 quarters of malt of oats, 2,000 hogsheads of wine, 200 carcases of beef, 300 hogs, and 10,000 hard fish; and to send as soon as possible one half of the above supplies to Skinburness and the other half to Newcastle-upon-Ayr. The provisions shall be conveyed to Skinburness by the ensuing feast of the Ascension at latest, ready to be delivered to James de Dalilegh, whom the K. had assigned to receive them. Dublin. Original. [Q.R., Irish Exchequer, $\frac{5\,3\,3}{1\,1}$ A., No. 12.]

April 28. 510. Although by inquisition taken by John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, the K. had been informed that it would be to the damage and prejudice of the K. to grant licence to Richard de Burgh, Earl of Ulster, to give to 24 chaplains, celebrating, for the souls of the earl and his ancestors, divine service daily in a chapel to be newly constructed at Loghre on Typerbryde, 40 librates of land and rent in Loghre and Typerbryde, and the advowsons of the churches de Loghre, St. Nicholas of Knocfergus, Greencastle, Ballyboun, Duncros, Loghkel, Portros, and Typerbryde, which are held of the K. in capite. Nevertheless for the honour of God, the increase of divine worship, and the good service which the earl renders to the K., the K. grants licence to the earl to give to the 24 chaplains the land, rent, and advowsons aforesaid, the chaplains to appropriate the churches, the statute of mortmain notwithstanding. Although the K. had long ago assigned to merchants of the company of Friscobaldi of Florence all the money arising from wools, hides, and woolfels in Ireland until they should be satisfied for debts due to them by the K., yet as the K. understands that the Exchequer stands very much in want of money in order to make provision of supplies for the war of Scotland, the K. is unwilling that the merchants should receive any of the money aforesaid from the last day of May ensuing, but that all the money arising from the custom should be received by the Treasurer, Barons, and Chamberlains to the K.'s use. Mandate that all the money arising from the custom should be received accordingly at the Exchequer, and that the provision aforesaid should be made out of that money and the other issues of Ireland. Whereas the K. has learned that wines are not exported in this year from Gascony to England in such abundance as they were wont to be, because the sovereign pontiff is staying in Gascony; and whereas the K. is obliged to make a provision, as well of wines as of other supplies, for the maintenance of himself and his lieges who are going with the K. to Scotland to curb the rebellion of his enemies, therefore the K. commands the justiciary, Treasurer, and Barons, to purchase and provide for him without delay, besides the supplies ordered to be sent to Skinburness, 200 hogsheads of wine, noticing the senders to hasten them and the other supplies to Skinburness. 533. Writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland. Whereas Reginald de Dean had lately impleaded Robert de Kallan before Robert Bagod and his associates, justices of the Common Pleas, Dublin, of one messuage and 2 carucates of land in Molynbro, and the said Robert had vouched to warranty against Reginald, Thomas son of Alured who warranted; and whereas the K. had caused the record and process of this plaint to come before the justiciary for error. The K. having learned by complaint of Walter son and heir of Robert de Callan that in the record and process of the plaint before the justiciary a similar error occurred, the K. commands the justiciary that if judgment has been rendered he send the record and processes before the K., so that the K. have them in the quinzaine of Easter. Brustwick, 15th November, a. r. 32 Edw. I. [1304].

By virtue of this writ John sent the record in these words:—

Common Pleas at Dublin before John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, in the quinzaine of Michaelmas, a. r. 28, Edw. I. [1300].

Dublin, Kilkenny. Writ commanding the Treasurer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer, Dublin, to send before the K. the record and process of a plaint before Robert Bagod and his associates, justices of the Common Pleas, Dublin, between Reginald de Dene, plaintiff, and Robert de Callan, tenant, of one messuage and 2 carucates of land in Molynbro. Assize held at Kilkenny before William le Graunt, locum tenens of the seneschal there, on Monday next before the feast of St. Margaret the Virgin, a. r. 20 [1292]. Reginald de Dene demands against Robert de Callan, one messuage and 2 carucates of land in Molinbro, which he claims as his right and inheritance, and into which Robert had not entry, save after a demise which William de Dene, uncle of Reginald, whose heir he is, made thereof to Walter son of Alured while he was non compos. Robert vouches to warranty Thomas son of Alured by aid of court. A day is given to them on the morrow of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross. Pleas before Robert Baggot and his associates at Dublin, in the term of the Holy Trinity, a. r. 21. Reginald de Dene demands in the court of the liberty of Kilkenny against Robert de Callan one messuage and 2 carucates of land in Mollinbro. Robert comes and vouches to warranty Thomas son of Alured, who has nothing within the liberty. Robert re-vouches Thomas. Pleas before the same on the octaves of Holy Hilary, a. r. 26. The justiciary returned that, at the instance of Walter son of Robert de Callan, an order had issued to the sheriff of Dublin, in whose bailiwick the tenements are situated, and to the sheriff of Kildare, in whose bailiwick Thomas Fitz Alured resides (who has nothing in the county of Dublin), to execute the mandate. The sheriff of Dublin returns that Thomas son and heir of Reginald de Dene is under age, and in custody of the K. in England, that Thomas Fitz Alured has nothing in his bailiwick, and that a scire facias had been issued to William le Graunt by David Duket and Thomas son of David Laurence. That Felicia, wife of William Graunt, is dead. The sheriff of Kildare returned that a scire facias had been issued to Thomas Fitz Alured, &c. by John Mool and Alexander Fitz Philip, &c. Walter son of Robert comes. Thomas and the others do not come. Wherefore let it be proceeded with to examination by default against William le Graunt and Thomas Fitz Alured who have been noticed. As to Thomas son and heir of Reginald aforesaid, John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland, was commanded to issue a scire facias to him to be before the K. in one month of Easter, to hear the record and process, and further to do, &c. The same day was given to Walter in the Common Pleas. On which day Walter came. Thomas son of Reginald did not come. The justiciary returned that he had ordered the seneschal of the liberty of Kilkenny to execute the writ, who answered that he had issued a scire facias to Thomas aforesaid by Thomas Fitz Maurice and Gregory Fitz John. Wherefore it was adjudged to proceed to examination on his default. A day thereupon was given to the same Walter in the octaves of the Holy Trinity. On which day Walter came and assigned errors in the record and process aforesaid. It is therefore expedient that the record and process be re-examined and corrected. A day was thereupon given to the parties, &c. [Coram Rege, Edw. I., No. 186, Rot. 14–15.]

Hilary. 606. Writ to John Wogan, justiciary of Ireland. Geoffrey de Morgan had complained that certain persons had accused him of having, while mayor of Dublin, taken the seal lately found in the city, without the assent of the citizens, and asported it, and done his will with it to the great danger and loss of the city. The K., therefore, wishing to inquire into the truth of this matter, commands the justiciary, by the oath of good men as well of the city as of the adjacent parts, to inquire whether the seal reached Geoffrey's hands, why he took possession of it, and what he did with it, what loss the city suffered by its detention; and to return the inquisition to the K. under his seal and the seals of those by whom it shall have been been made. Caversham, Nov. 22, a. r. 34 [1305]. By virtue of this writ the justiciary returned an inquisition taken before him at Dublin in the quinzaine of St. Martin, a. r. 35 [1306]. The jurors Say upon their oath that Geoffrey de Morton did not asport the common seal of the city of Dublin against the consent of the citizens, but had possession of the seal by delivery of the citizens. But John le Sergeant, mayor of that city, hearing that Geoffrey was about to depart for England prayed him to let him have the seal. Geoffrey answered that he would willingly do so; but this he forgot, and departing for England he left the seal in care of his wife. Subsequently the mayor and citizens, wishing to have the seal in order to seal some letters with which they wished to send Roger de Ashbourne into England [certifying that no suit made by Geoffrey was by the will or assent of the citizens], went to Geoffrey's wife, and the mayor aforesaid for the citizens prayed for the delivery of the seal. As she was told that the mayor and citizens wanted to send some letters against her husband which would be very hurtful to him, she said that she had not the seal; and so Geoffrey from this cause was hindered for a long time; so that the citizens who had previously agreed with him [Roger de Ashbourne] for the expedition for 20 marks could not induce him to cross over unless they gave him 50 marks. And so the citizens suffered this damage by detention of the seal. [Coram Rege, Edw. I., No. 188, Rot. 55.]
